

Flexible Half Day Workshops

Overview

Do you need to integrate professional development workshops into your school or trust schedule? Schools request flexible half-day workshops to:

- Offer professional learning bursts within a staff retreat or Inset day, or over a series of twilight sessions
- Provide a sequence of professional learning opportunities to a target group of staff

Facilitated by professional coaches, these workshops are interactive and practical, offering a chance for your team to widen their skillset and gain new strategies relevant to many aspects of their practice. Our coach facilitators differentiate the learning for your context, and ensure that all participants are actively engaged.

Workshops can be delivered in person at your school, or virtually. You can choose your preferred timing – morning, afternoon, or twilight.

There are 33 different workshops to choose from, each targeting a different capability area
